HALIFAX SAYS "NO" TO HITLER OFFER

SCANT RELIEF FROM HEAT IN SIGHT FOR U. S.

Temperatures Continue To Soar in Marion; Hits New High of 93 Today.

Most of the nation, including Marion (as you probably know), perspired under a heat wave today with scant relief in sight.

The temperature hit 91 yesterday in Marion and continued up in the stratospheric levels today. At 12 o'clock the official thermometer registered 91 again. At 2:35 p. m. the reading was 93, a new high for the summer.

In Ohio 90-plus readings prevailed. Springfield set a season record with 100. The weather led to 10 drownings.

In the nation, with no relief forecast for the near future, temperatures ranged from the low 90's to 111 at Needles, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz.

New High Mark Reached Here Today

The government's weather experts scanned their instruments and records closely today for some sign of comfortable weather, but saw nothing much in the offing. At noon today the mercury was at 91.

A record high of 93 for the summer was reported at 2:35 p. m. by Observer E. H. Raffensperger.

"Generally fair and continued warm tonight and Tuesday, except for widely scattered thundershowers Tuesday's night" is the official forecast.

Marionites continued to swelter and the burning question of the day was "Is it hot enough for you?"

Yesterday Weatherman Raffensperger's thermometer again reached a high of 91 degrees and didn't go any lower than 74. Saturday the range was from 91 to 72 and a year ago the high was 82 and the low 59.

10 Drownings Reported in Ohio Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

Ohio continued to bake today in near 100-degree temperatures which caused two prostration deaths and helped swell the state's drowning and accident toll to 25 for the week-end.

No relief was in sight as the swelter sent the mercury to a season record of 100 degrees in Springfield and 90-plus throughout most of the state.

Deaths of Mary Dietz, 82, in Cincinnati, and Joel Y. Williams, 92, in Bellaire, were attributed by physicians directly to the heat.

10 Reported Drowned

At least 10 persons drowned while bathing or wading. They were:

Elizabeth Teaford 10, elderly William Lyons and Ethel Myers, 11, all in creeks near Columbus; Elmer Baker in Licking river at Newark; Albert Knellinger, 32, of Bridgeport, in the Ohio river near Wheeling; John Dury, 20, of McDonald, in Lake Milton near Youngstown; John Betz, Jr., 38, in a Canton creek; Elroy Fread, 10, in a Massillon gravel pit; Raymond Giles, 22, of Chicago, in Black river at Elyria, and Irene Bacon, 6, in a pond near Piney Fork, Jefferson county.

Benjamin Devoirie, 25, of Defiance was drowned while attempting to catch a fish in Darby creek which flows through grounds of the state institution for feeble minded at Orient where he was a patient.

Drowned also were Robert W. Warner, 23, of Salem, and Mrs. Orie Katherine Schaeffer, 26, of Athens. Their automobile plunged into Hocking river near Athens. Mrs. Tena Bachtis, 32, of Athens, a passenger, was saved.

Three Cambridge residents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther McKeen and Miss Maxine Spade, died in the plunge of their car into Licking river at Zanesville. Carl Ruby, 21, the driver, escaped.

Two Firemen Killed

Two firemen were killed and five others injured in the wreck of a North Lima volunteer fire department truck in a highway crash enroute to a minor farm blaze. The dead were Chief Earl Strouker, 50, and Homer McCormack, 42.

Two of the injured, Roy Miner and Emmett Haas, were taken to a Youngstown hospital in serious condition. The others, Howard Hartman, Clarence Seiener and

ANNENBERG ON WAY TO PRISON

Wealthy Publisher and Racing News King Surrenders to U. S. Marshal.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—M. L. Annenberg surrendered to the United States marshal today to begin a trip to the U. S. penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where he must serve a three year term for evasion of income taxes.

Chief Deputy Marshal Joseph Tobin said Annenberg appeared at the Loop office of his chief counsel, Weymouth Kirkland, and that the marshal's office was advised by telephone.

Marshal William H. McDonnell went to the lawyer's office, prepared to start immediately by automobile for Lewisburg with his 63-year-old prisoner who once ruled the turf news field as one of the nation's wealthiest men.

Annenberg, a Philadelphia publisher, thus began paying in time his debt to Uncle Sam for criminal violation of the income tax laws. He has also paid $800,000 as first installment on an $800,000 settlement he agreed to make to settle civil income tax claims.

Annenberg spent the week-end with his family in Philadelphia, then surrendered on the day his stay of execution expired. He was sentenced July 1 by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson who later denied him probation.

Meanwhile U. S. Attorney William J. Campbell said he would move in court today or tomorrow to dismiss remaining charges against Annenberg and Joseph E. Hafner, bookkeeper for the Annenberg corporate setup.

Hafner pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting Annenberg in the tax evasion and was sentenced to five months in the Cook county (Chicago) jail, a term he was due to begin today.

NATIONAL DEFENSE SUPPLANTS POLITICS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 22—National defense supplanted politics in the capitol temporarily today as congress returned from recesses to tackle a dozen and one problems which may prolong the session many weeks.

The order of business for the senate and house this week had not been determined as Democratic leaders came back to their desks from the Chicago convention, but committees faced heavy schedules.

Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.) of the house deficiency appropriations subcommittee announced the start of hearings on the request of President Roosevelt for another $4,800,000,000 for defense.

Woodrum said that Secretary Knox and other navy department heads would be heard first, followed by officials from the war department.

"Then we will call in the national defence commission, lay our defense program before a roundtable conference and see what we've got," Woodrum said.

He predicted that the big bill, raising the current defense outlay to about $15,000,000,000, would be ready for house debate in two weeks.

Within a few days, the treasury department will present its tentative plan for an excess profits tax which the President recommended to help pay the huge armament bill.

Already in the legislative mill were the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill and a proposal to permit the President to mobilize the national guard

GERMANS SAY ZERO HOUR TO FOLLOW REPLY

Berlin Indicates Hitler Waiting Only Official Answers to Peace Offer.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Berlin Associated Press Bureau Chief

BERLIN, July 22 — England's "zero hour" will come after Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Winston Churchill have replied to Adolf Hitler's "final" proposal for peace, authorized German sources said today.

These sources intimated that official British answers are all Hitler is waiting for before starting his threatened great offensive on the British isles themselves.

It was said it was apparent, however, that the fuehrer is willing to wait even longer in case the English people disavow the leadership of Churchill, whose answer to peace proposals, it was taken for granted here, likely will be negative.

The German high command reported its latest air raids on England had caused destructive fires and explosions at airdromes, seaports and oil storage tanks, while an attack on a convoy in the channel sank a tanker and four merchantmen.

British aircraft losses yesterday were listed as eight planes, one of them a large Sunderland flying boat brought down off German-occupied Trondheim, Norway. Four German planes failed to return, the army communique said.

Authorized sources said it was not quite clear why Lord Halifax would speak before Churchill.

(Lord Halifax is scheduled to make a radio address this afternoon; Churchill is expected to speak in the house of commons tomorrow on the Hitler proposals.)

"Perhaps Lord Halifax is intended to give the answer for the pious; Churchill for the worldly-minded," one commentator remarked chastically.

As for the pan-American conference at Havana, it was said, Germany intends to play the role solely of interested observer.

The German radio, meanwhile, continued to broadcast message to the English people to listen to Hitler's "appeal to reason" and accept his offer before it is too late.

District Rotary Leaders To Meet At Country Club

About 150 presidents, secretaries and chairmen of major committees of 47 Rotary clubs in the 157th district are expected for an assembly Tuesday morning and afternoon at the Marion Country club.

The weekly meeting of the Marion club will be at noon in conjunction with the assembly and will be highlighted by a talk by L. E. Ragsdale, past president of the Chicago club, on "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride."

The assembly will open at 9 a. m. with Harry D. Poulston of Lima, district governor, presiding. The following talks have been scheduled from 10 to 11:15: "The Rotary Club President—An Executive," Past Gov. Charles N. Sutton of Attica; "Rotary's Work with Crippled Children," Past Gov. Frank B. Pauly; "The Rotary Club Secretary in a Changing World," Past Gov. Harold Covault of Lorain.

After the luncheon the assembly will reconvene at 1:30 for the following program:

"The Aims and Objects Plan and Club Service," Past Gov. F. M. Hopkins; "Any Rotary Club and the Second Object," Earle Smith, past president of Toledo club; "The Fourth Object in a Troubled World," Past Gov. Charles A. Hoot of Wooster. "Corporate and Individual Action," Past Gov. Paul V. Barrett of Findlay; "The Toledo School for the Crippled Child," Gerald Openlauder, president of the Toledo club.

There will be talks on student loans and occupational guidance, and at 3:45 the following discussion groups will be organized: presidents and secretaries, Governor Poulston, leader; club program chairmen, Julius Bohn of Ashland, leader; crippled children's committee, William C. Mead of Mansfield, leader; club publications, George J. Kochenderfer of Mansfield, leader; student loan fund and occupational guidance chairmen. The assembly will adjourn at 4:30.

On the Marion committees for the assembly are Clarence O. Bowers, chairman, Carroll E. Fleming, secretary, Earl E. Mahaffey, Dr. Paul V. Stickley, Jr., Dr. Frank T. Lewis and

American Republics Look To U. S. for Defense Plan

Delegates Await Secretary Hull's Address Before Conference This Afternoon.

By The Associated Press

HAVANNA, July 22 — An emergency meeting of representatives of the 21 American republics looked today to the United States to point the way for concrete measures to bolster western hemisphere economy and defense against any totalitarian thrusts.

As the business of formally organizing the conference began, delegates of the Latin American countries, whose economies already have been disturbed by the loss of European markets, anxiously waited for Secretary of State Cordell Hull to indicate how far the United States is ready to go in helping to solve their problems.

Hull planned to address the conference at 4 p. m. after the first private plenary session devoted to designation of committees.

Stage for Speech Set

The stage for his address was set yesterday by President Federico Laredu Bru of Cuba who, in a speech of welcome, called upon the American nations to take concrete measures to defend their "common rights" against dangers which "increase day by day."

He warned the delegates they must approach the "difficult" problems before them in the full knowledge that the western hemisphere has become "the trustee for the remainder of betrayed civilization—a civilization pushed to the edge of a precipice."

In dealing with events in Europe the president mentioned no nations by name but he delivered barbed thrusts against "conquests of force and violence."

Although boxes had been set aside for German, Italian, Japanese and Spanish diplomats at the inaugural session, they remained empty.

Some quarters interpreted this as evidence the four nations were acting in accord on all matters affecting their relations with the Americas.

Broad Program

The agenda facing the degegates was described as one of the broadest ever tackled by a Pan-American conference and many of those present considered that its very broadness made it susceptible to pitfalls.

The problems to be discussed ranged over the field:

1. Examination of western hemisphere neutrality in the light of such unpredicted recent developments as the capitulation of Holland, Belgium and France to German armed forces.

2. The attitude of the Americans toward western hemisphere possessions of conquered European nations.

3. "Fifth column" activities in the Americas — their extent and possible precautionary measures to be taken.

4. Re-settlement of refugees, prisoners and other victims of war.

5. Economic cooperation — or what possibilities exist for employing United States capital to mutual advantage in helping Latin American states from being drawn into the barter system of totalitarian powers.

Hull Meets Delegates

Secretary Hull conferred individually with the heads of various delegations immediately after his arrival yesterday, and it was reported these talks had disclosed a strong desire for concrete action to combat any possible menace to continental security and internal regimes in the Americas.

Fear was expressed by some, however, that Argentina might prove a stumbling block to the adoption of a solid front on both defense and economic questions. Argentine delegates failed to appear for preconvention discussions but arrived today.

It was announced, meanwhile, from San Jose, Costa Rica, that the German legation there had withdrawn its note of two weeks ago expressing hope the Central American state would do nothing "unneutral" at the conference.

Arthur O. Dennis, Retired Marion Fire Captain, Dies

Had Service Record of Nearly 33 Years; Was Native of Ashley.

Capt. Arthur O. Dennis, 59, with a record of nearly 33 years' service in the city fire department, died yesterday at 4:15 a. m. at his home at 219 North State street.

Ill since May 30, he was in University hospital at Columbus from June 4 until the last of the month. His condition was regarded as critical virtually all of the time and several firemen went to the hospital as blood donors when it became necessary to give transfusions.

Captain Dennis, eligible for pension several years ago, continued in service until his illness. He was formally pensioned on June 25.

Unusual Service Record

His record of only one day of absence from duty because of sickness or injury was "remarkable," Fire Chief T. J. McFarland said today. The one day he was absent a heavy cold kept him at home at his family's insistence.

Captain Dennis joined the department on Sept. 8, 1907 and until 1915 was on duty at Stations 1 and 2. In 1915 he was transferred to Station No. 3 on East Mark street and on Jan. 1, 1920 he was appointed captain. Throughout the remainder of his service, he was at the Mark street station.

Men of the department will serve as pallbearers for the funeral Tuesday and all members not on duty will attend in uniform.

The pallbearers will be Capt. James J. Rynn of Station No. 1, Capt. A. D. Boyd of Station No. 2, Firemen L. W. Miller and Burdette Bindley who worked under Captain Dennis at Station No. 3, Fireman George C. Haines of Station No. 2 and Fireman Wesley R. Issleib of Station No. 1.

Funeral Tuesday

The funeral will be conducted at 2 p. m. at the L. A. Axe & Son funeral home on Mt. Vernon avenue. Rev. M. E. Hollensen of Emanuel Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Captain Dennis lived in Marion 40 years, coming here in 1900 from Ashley, O., where he was born on July 8, 1881. His parents were the late Corrington and Flora Anderson Dennis, natives of Delaware county.

He was married in Marion on Aug. 26, 1919 to Mrs. Margaret Keller Staub.

Surviving with the widow are two sons by a former marriage, Thomas Eugene Dennis of Marion and Arthur R. Dennis of Chicago, three children by the second marriage, Jeraldine K., Jack H., and Charles L. Dennis, all at home, two step-children, Mary Elizabeth and Robert Staub, at home, three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Walter Shoemaker of Marion.

Captain Dennis was a member of Emanuel Lutheran church and of the International Order of Fire Fighters.

IMPORT BANK FUNDS SOUGHT

President Wants Resources Increased To Assist Southern Neighbors.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 22—President Roosevelt asked congress today to increase the lending power of the export-import bank by $500,000,000 so that it might be "of greater assistance to our neighbors south of the Rio Grande."

In a special message coincident with the Pan-American conference at Havana, Mr. Roosevelt said that war in Europe was preventing the flow of surplus products from the western hemisphere to their markets.

"It is to be hoped," he said, "that before another year world trade can be reestablished, but, pending this adjustment, we in the United States should join with the people of the other republics of the western hemisphere in meeting their problems. I call the attention of congress to the fact that by helping our neighbors we will be helping ourselves.

"It is in the interests of the producers of our country, as well as in the interests of producers of other American countries, that there shall not be disorganized or cutthroat market in those commodities which we all export.

"No sensible person would advocate an attempt to prevent the normal exchange of commodities between other continents and the Americas, but what can and should be done is to prevent excessive fluctuation caused by distressed selling resulting from temporary interruption in the flow of trade, or the fact that there has not yet been re-established a system of free exchange. Unless exporting companies are able to assist their nationals, they will be forced to bargain as best they can."

Kenton Dismisses Charges Against Religious Group

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., July 22 — Thirteen Marion men and women were cleared today after City Solicitor A. F. Brindley Jr. was cited to U. S. court rulings upholding the rights of individuals and groups to sale and distribution of religious literature.

Attorney J. R. Schmidt of Middletown, O., counsel for the 13 defendants who were to have been tried Saturday night in court of Mayor E. H. McFarland, contended that the city of Kenton was without authority to enact any ordinance requiring the licensing or restriction of sale or distribution of anything of a religious nature. He quoted recent opinions of the U. S. court of appeals at Cincinnati and of the U. S. supreme court.

The decision of Solicitor Brindley to withdraw charges of soliciting without a license against the 13 men and women arrested July 6 also affected the 10 arrested earlier for soliciting signatures to petitions demanding use of the Ohio State fairgrounds as a meeting place for the Jehovah's Witnesses, it was announced.

However Kenton police asked residents to cooperate against continued solicitation by ordering such solicitors to leave their premises and, if they refuse, summoning police and filing trespassing charges.

FINISH FIGHT IS PROMISED BY BRITISHER

Churchill Also To Make Statement on England's Aims Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

Britain flung back today defiance of Adolf Hitler's threat to blast the British isles into submission unless she yields to Nazi-dictated peace terms.

With authorized Nazis in Berlin declaring that Hitler may now order the "zero hour" for the invasion of England at any moment, Britain's Foreign Minister Lord Halifax said:

"We will not stop fighting until freedom for ourselves and others is assured.

"We realize the struggle may cost us everything," he continued, in a world broadcast, but Britons and others who oppose the Nazi ideology "will never accept this new world of Hitler's" with "Germany lording it over these peoples whom he has one by one deprived of freedom."

Halifax answering Hitler's "one last appeal" voiced in a speech by the Nazi fuehrer to the reichstag last Friday, declared that "across the wide Atlantic there are mighty nations which view his works with growing detestation," and he added:

"The people of the United States did not build their new home in order to surrender it to this fanatic . . ."

Authorized Nazis in Berlin said Britain's "zero hour" would follow quickly after Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Churchill have answered Hitler's "final appeal to reason."

Hitler himself has said that if the British reject a Nazi-prescribed peace, "my answer will be terrible for millions."

With Nazi bombs exploding in widely scattered areas of England, Lord Halifax arranged a speech to reiterate what Prime Minister Churchill has said repeatedly—that Britain is in for a fight to a finish.

The Halifax broadcast to the empire and the United States was made this afternoon. Churchill may follow it up with a speech of his own on the same subject when he goes before the house of commons tomorrow.

One Side Must Win

Authoritative sources had said the foreign secretary would stress the moral issues of the conflict, a reiteration of Britain's stand she is warring against Hitlerism and there can be no question of peace until British or Nazi arms and ideology have won out.

"The Halifax broadcast was planned before Hitler's reichstag address last Friday. Therefore there was a possibility that Prime Minister Churchill, who arranged to meet his cabinet today, might decide instead itself to declare anew the government's stand when he appears before the house of commons tomorrow.

The British press, which already has rejected the Nazi fuehrer's ultimatum, found a new target today in German radio propaganda of the last few days advising Britain to get rid of Churchill and the "war mongers."

Strikes at Propaganda

The London News Chronicle's Vernon Bartlett said:

"Either he (German Propaganda Minister Goebbels) is very ignorant of the only grounds of criticism of the British government—namely, that the vast majority of Englishmen want more, and not less, drastic efforts to win the war—or he must go to unparalleled lengths to deceive his own people. . . .

Prickly Heat

WHAT IS prickly heat and what is the treatment of it?

The medical name for prickly heat is miliaria. It is generally agreed that it is due to the stopping up of the sweat ducts The mouths of the sweat ducts swell up because the cells are unprotected by sufficient oil There is a congestion of the capillaries and the formation of blisters or swellings in the upper layers of the skin.

Excessive sweating tends to remove the oil on the skin, and all cases of prickly heat are associated with excessive sweating.

Diagnosis is not always simple Many eruptions are called prickly heat that are really insect bites, especially flea bites. A good point to notice is whether the rash affects the covered or exposed parts of the body. If the latter, insect bites or plant dermatitis may be suspected rather than prickly heat. Ringworm is another confusing possibility.

Soothing Treatment

Treatment should consist of soothing preparations — lotions and powders. Starch, almond meal or bran water may be applied and the area then dried and dusted with 10 per cent boric acid powder with zinc oxide and starch. Calomine lotion with or without phenol is used in severe cases Sponging with alcohol may be all that is needed "Mexican heat powder" contains camphor, zinc oxide, boric acid and starch

YESTERDAY: Sandra tells Adam that Ivan was a highborn Russian smuggled out of Russia during the revolution by devoted servants. She becomes agitated when Adam mentions the possibility of spies.

CHAPTER 24

Goodby Kiss

"WHEN are you leaving?"

"Tomorrow morning — as soon after the coroner's inquest as it can be arranged. The body is at a mortician's in town. There will be a brief formal inquest—murder by person or persons unknown. The usual thing."

"Oh! I'd forgotten about the inquest—do we all have to be there?"

"No. Just Gerald and I, to describe the finding of the body. Colonel Pennant has arranged that you girls won't be called, except possibly Sandra, who may have to identify the body. These things are only a formality. You won't need to attend unless you want to."

"I don't." I shivered.

"I didn't suppose you would. It's scheduled for ten o'clock tomorrow morning. I expect to get a train out before noon."

"I'd like to go with you, I said, and surprised a quickly veiled gleam in his eyes.

"I'm afraid Ivan would make neither a pleasant nor an adequate chaperon," he said lightly.

"At least as far as Chicago," I continued, as if that were what I had meant all along. "It's time I was terminating my visit here as you so aptly suggested last night."

"Please don't. Don't terminate it; and don't remind me of that. I was not myself last night—now get insulted about that, too, if you must. But you know it's true. I think you must like me or you wouldn't continually try to put me in the wrong. And I particularly want you to stay until I get back—I'd like you to keep an eye on Sandra. Cultivate her, see if you can get her to talk. She'll be right here in the building. You may stumble onto something. I have a strong hunch that she's not telling all she knows."

I thought, she isn't the only one. A feeling of helplessness descended on me, and with it an impulse to tell Adam all I knew. I was getting too tangled up in this thing. Why should I let a new loyalty to Julia make me forget that Adam was my friend here—the only one on the post who really mattered?

It isn't easy to jump right into an acknowledgment that you've been holding out on someone you like. I cast about in my mind for ways of leading up to it gradually, but the little moment of intimacy was already gone. Adam was deep in his problem again and the eyes that were fixed on mine were veiled by abstraction. He did not see the words trembling on my lips. And he took my silence for consent.

"I'll try to be back by Wednesday," he said. "If I'm detained I'll let you know. Promise you'll not go out alone at any time. Use my car, by all means, but take someone along. And be back here by dark."

I promised, and he went off to communicate with Colonel Pennant, to arrange about leave and to pack his grip. I know he had not thought of any possible danger to me beyond that covered by his admonitions. He has told me that nothing of the kind even occurred to him. Certainly it did not to me. I did not want him to go. Not because I was afraid, but because I would be lonely without him.

Secret Rapping

I sat down with the play and read it through — or as nearly through as natural boredom permitted. It was an ambitious project, having as its theme nothing less than the restoration of the Romanovs to the throne of all the Russias. Young Alexis, the tsarevitch, like Ivan, had been smuggled out of the country. At a time which appeared to be the near future, his loyal supporters overthrew the Soviet Union to the accompaniment of loud bombings and impassioned speeches.

I saw Adam again at cold supper in the mess hall, when I gave him back the play with a brief comment that seemed to please him. He ate hurriedly and left before the rest of us were through.

I was alone in my room, trying to read, when he came in about ten o'clock. I dropped the book I was holding and smiled, in the foolish hope that he would not notice my eyes were red. He closed the door behind him, looked at me for a moment without saying anything, then put a hand on each of my shoulders.

"I'll be as busy as a boy killing snakes in the morning," he said lightly, "I may not see you."

His hands were holding me, but they did not draw me into his arms. His eyes were luminous and very tender. He bent down and kissed me on the lips.

"Are you yourself now?" I asked as soon as I could.

"Very much so." His hands tightened a little and he shook me lightly, affectionately. "Take care of yourself. And I want you right here when I get back."

He was gone so quickly that I had no time even to say goodby.

It must have been about midnight that I heard the light, secret rapping on my door, as if whoever was there wanted to attract as little attention as possible. My room was dark. I had been lying there, smoking and thinking, for about an hour. Sleep was still far from me.

It did not occur to me to be frightened. I turned on a bedside light, went through the sitting room and opened the corridor door.

Sandra slipped in. She had on a terry cloth robe over her nightgown. It slid down for an instant to reveal a red mark on her shoulder—a mark that might have been made by an ungentle hand.

She saw the direction of my gaze and caught the robe together. Her face looked white and stiff.

"May I stay with you tonight?" she asked bluntly. "I know you have twin beds. I could ask Felicia for another room, but I don't want her to know. I trust you."

What could I say? She volunteered no explanation and I certainly could not ask for one.

I led her into the bedroom and watched while she turned down the vacant bed and got into it, facing away from me. Then I turned out the light and lay down, respecting her silence, but passionately resenting the invasion of my privacy. My thoughts had been company enough without the intrusion of this alien, uncomfortable presence.

I could not sleep. And though she lay quiet, not turning, breathing evenly, I knew that she was awake. And as the night wore on I could feel her thoughts, too, a dark and dreadful company, between us in the room.

Offer Of Help

I must have slept toward morning, for I roused at the second of the reveille gun. It woke Sandra, too, if she had been asleep at all. I heard her stirring, heard the bed springs creak when they were released from her weight. She was trying to be quiet, so I did not open my eyes or let on that I heard her; and presently I knew by the slight click of the closing door that she had gone.

I got up then and showered and dressed. It was too early for breakfast, so I solaced my hollow stomach with cigarettes and settled down to my typewriter until I heard sounds from the kitchen.

The mess hall was empty when I went in—it was still early. I breakfasted hurriedly and escaped before the crowd. My brain was seething with plots and characters and I wanted no distraction.

Sandra came to my room about eleven-thirty. She had just returned from the inquest. She apologized for interrupting me, thanked me for letting her stay with me but still with that reserve which made no explanation and forbade questioning.

I asked her about the inquest. It had been much as Adam predicted—formal identification of the body, medical testimony, a brief account by Adam of the beach party and the finding of the body. Verdict of murder by person or persons unknown.

And Adam, with his grim companion, had started on their journey.

Sandra looked tired and rather cold, as one might who has closed a chapter in her life forever and faces an unknown future. I remembered that Adam wanted me to cultivate her, so when she rose to go I stopped her.

"Stay and have a cigarette with me. I'm ready for a recess."

"What are you doing?" she asked curiously, looking over my shoulder at the half-typed sheet of white paper.

"Copying a story I finished this morning. It's been hanging around for a couple of weeks—I want to send it off today."

"Oh, I see you write it first on this yellow paper, then you have to copy it. I thought writers just wrote."

"Maybe some of them do. I always have to make a lot of changes."

"Then I suppose when you get it all copied you have to read it over to make sure you're made no mistakes. Maybe I could do that for you—would it be any help?"

I wondered if she really wanted to help or if it was only an excuse to read the story. Some people are funny that way. I publish under a pen name because pulp stuff is pretty sticky, and I cherish the illusion that one day I'll write something good.

"You're welcome to read it if you want to, but it's already been proofread—I usually do that as soon as I finish a page. It's less monotonous that way."

"Oh, I didn't mean—I wouldn't want you to think I was just curious. I really thought I might help. You see, I haven't a thing in the world to occupy my mind."

"Thanks for the offer. If I need any help I'll let you know."

She took that for dismissal and moved toward the door. But she did not go. There was something on her mind.

Orchard Spray Dates Later Than Usual This Year

County Farm Agent Mails Advice to Growers of Fruit.

The second generation of codling moth adults will be later this year than usual in Marion and nearby counties because of the cool weather in June, County Agricultural Agent Homer S. Porteus advised today in a fruit spray letter sent to some 65 growers.

The cool spell slowed down emergence of the moths and hatching. The spray date recommended this year is about 10 days later than in 1939 but is expected to be ahead of the second generation hatching.

Information received by Mr. Porteus from the extension office at Ohio State university indicates the following schedule:

When to spray—Start about July 25 and finish as soon as possible.

What for—Codling moth, apple scab and sooty fungus.

What to use—Six pounds of flotation type sulfur, or the following mixture, wettable sulfur (follow manufacturer's directions), three pounds or calcium or zinc arsenate, eight pounds of spray lime and water to make 100 gallons.

If bitter rot is a problem, it is advisable to use a 4-8-100 bordeaux mixture instead of the sulfur fungicide, the bulletin states.

The bulletin sent out Monday was the last one on the schedule for this season, Mr. Porteus said. Any persons desiring information on garden and orchard insects and diseases may contact Mr. Porteus at the post office.

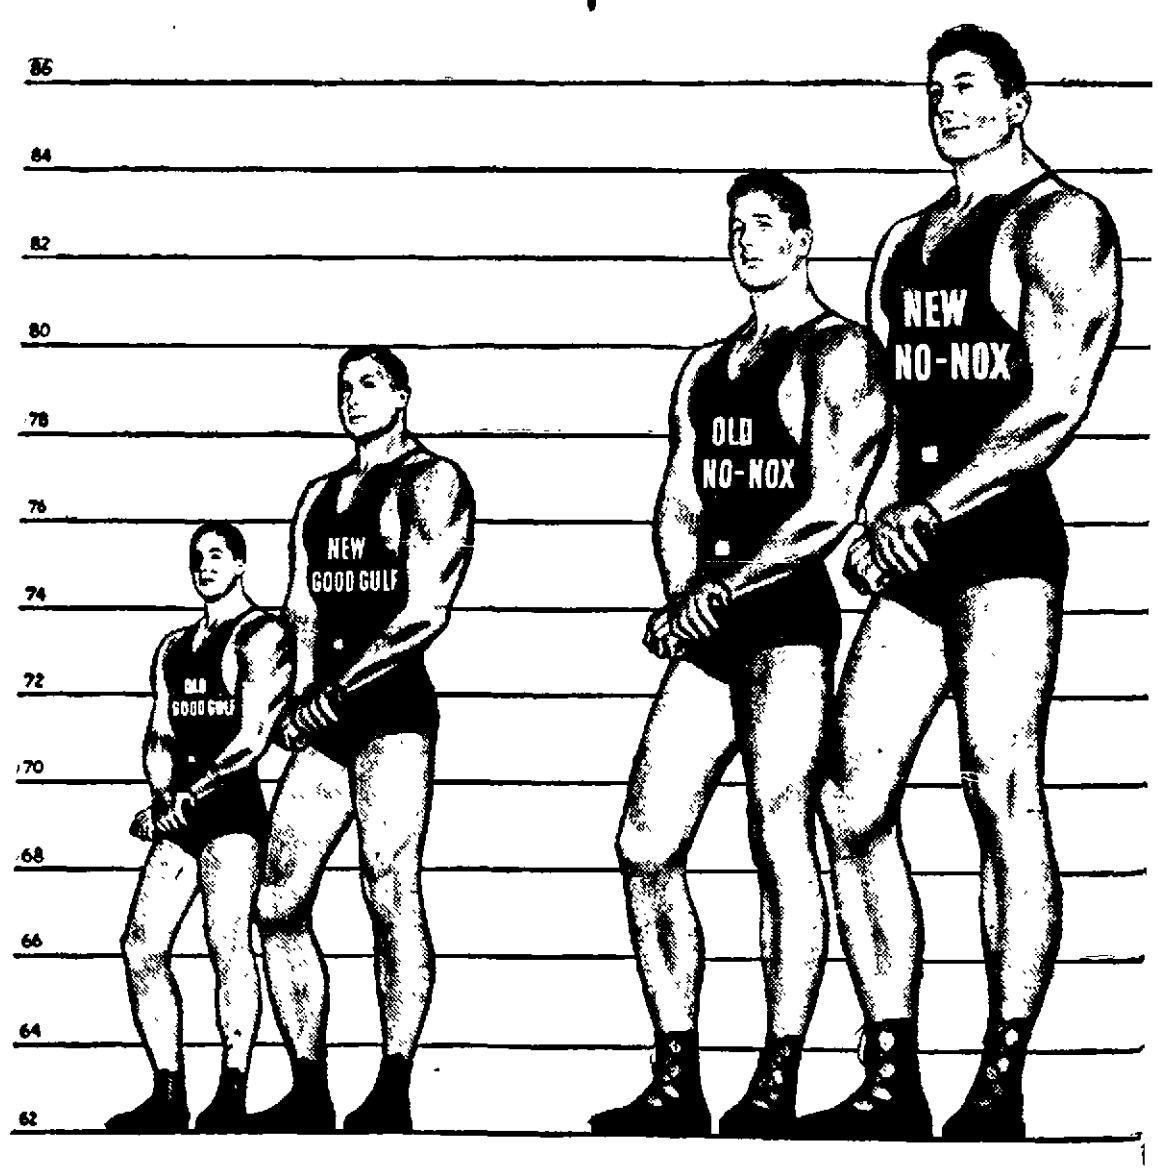
Huge Improvement in Gulf Gasolines



To measure the quality of a gasoline, no hocus-pocus is needed.

There is a scientific test that shows the comparative anti-knock value of any motor fuel.

The shorter figure above represents the former "mark" in that test of GOOD GULF, one of the best regular-priced gasolines in America. But . . . hold your hat! The taller figure shows you the precise improvement in the NEW GOOD GULF, now stepped-up tremendously. What superb performance this power-packed fuel will deliver in your modern, high-compression engine!

But hang on to that hat again as you look at the other figure! It shows how much GULF NO-NOX has been lifted over its old high. And when you consider that the old NO-NOX was knock-proof under all normal driving conditions—that was no easy improvement to make!

THEY'VE GOT THOSE EXTRAS THAT WIN BALL GAMES

Yes, it's the extras that carried Joe DiMaggio, "Bucky" Walters, and George Case to the top. The extras of slower burning won them to Camel cigarettes

HE STEPS UP to the plate, and he looks like most any other ball player. But when that bat of his comes crashing through—man, look out! It may be the ball game. Experts call him one of the greatest natural hitters in the game. Where...how he gets all that extra power into his bat, even Joe DiMaggio himself can't say. But you can easily see below how he gets the extras in his cigarette. "I smoke Camels for extra mildness and extra flavor," says Joe.

JOE DI MAGGIO—He topped both major leagues in batting last season

NO, "Bucky" Walters has no magic pitch. The magic's in his extra pitching sense—the extra degree of control. It shows in a change of pace that shackles the mightiest of bats. Those are the extras in his pitching! To his cigarette, "Bucky" will tell you: "Extra mildness and extra coolness win with me. So I smoke slower-burning Camels." Yes, Camel's costlier tobaccos and slower way of burning mean extra pleasure—and extra smoking (see below, left).

In Grandma's day one of the worst things you could say about a girl was that she was flighty. Modern girls, however, are putting a new twist on an old phrase now that the war seems to have taken a long term lease on Europe. The flightier section of Uncle Sammy's nieces has organized an up in the air contingent to be known as the Women Flyers of America. Already 170 girls (glamor and otherwise have joined, and the W. F. of A. expects to sign several thousand modern Barbara Frietchies and Molly Pitchers by September. Probably the next step is pastel colored parachutes trimmed in lace.

Dicky Reveals How He and Harry Interpreted the Disappearance of Their Wives.

"FARTHER BACK than that," Dicky said a bit cockily. "Indeed we knew you must have beaten it, when we couldn't find you before we left, although Katie swore you were both 'sure, shoost someveres close by.' We looked for Jim, then in the garage, found him and the station wagon missing, put three and two together, and made it five, then beat it across the fields to Ticer's,—the trail of the station wagon lay that way.

"We had no trouble getting information from Mrs. Ticer and Jim. When we reached the rendezvous and saw the tire tracks of the station wagon in the dust, then we knew for certain, and I stayed behind to see just what fool stunt you were pulling."

"Well! you found out, didn't you?" Lillian drawled.

"Yes, you sure pulled a fast one and probably saved the day," Dicky acknowledged handsomely, "but that doesn't put it on the free list for you two to go cavorting around on dangerous stunts like these. Why! you might have been killed, both of you.

His voice broke raggedly, and I thrilled as always to any betrayal of his deep care for me. But Lillian was less sentimental.

"And I suppose you and Harry were safe in your little cribs with your blocks and Teddy bears through all this ruckus!" she gibed. "Nay, nay, little one, stow the melodramatic objections. In this case, the sauce for the ganders is also to be lapped up by the geese."

"Glad you've labeled yourselves," Dicky growled. "But don't make any mistake about this. When old Harry and I get you two safely home we're going to—"

"You and how many more?" Lillian gibed mechanically with her eyes on the road ahead on which a car had appeared. "Madge, is that one of our cars?"

I carefully scrutinized the oncoming car.

"Yes, it's one of ours," I said, adding a second later, "And Harry is driving it."

Dicky raised himself from his position on the floor of the car.

"Get over to the side of the road and stop," he directed. "I'll get out and flag them."

He did not need to flag them. Harry Underwood drew his car up opposite ours, and his eyes flickered over us with apparently no recognition.

"Well!" he said to Dicky.

"Meet two friends of mine, Hank and Bill Sweet," Dicky said gravely. "I lent them the station wagon this morning, and they came along just in time to give me a hand with Jack Leslie and his chauffeur."

I saw clearly what Dicky was doing. He did not care to have the men with Harry know that Lillian and I were the apparent men in the station wagon.

That Harry Underwood realized our identity I was sure, but he played up nobly.

"Glad to know you," he said carlessly to us. Then he spoke tensely to Dicky.

"Jack Leslie!" he ejaculated. "So he was here all the time!"

"Yes, but he didn't get into the game, thanks to our good friends here. I'll tell you all about it later. Just now we'd better hit the road for home. Leslie and his chauffeur are tied up and gagged in the brush back yonder. But they can roll out to the road when they see their pals come back looking for them, as they surely will."

"They will when they get their cars untangled," Harry said with a chuckle. "Yes, and when they do get straightened out and Leslie realizes how he's been fooled, he'll boil."

"Leslie already knows all about it," Dicky said grimly. "I had the pleasure of telling him."

"Then there's all the more reason for us to hurry home," Harry said, as he sent a meaning glance toward Lillian and me. "You beat it on ahead, take the shortest way back to the farm. Go slowly till I right behind you all the way."

Hoctor - Midlam Wedding Held at St. Mary Rectory

MISS MARGARET F. HOCTOR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hoctor of 212 Orchard street, became the bride of John E. Midlam of Urbana Saturday evening. Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church read the ceremony at the rectory on North Main street. The attendants were the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Patton, and present for the ceremony were the bride's parents and Mr. Midlam's sister, Miss Jean Midlam.

For her wedding Miss Hoctor chose an all white crepe costume with which she wore a white turban and accessories. Her flowers were pink roses and gardenias. Mrs. Patton was costumed in pink and wore a white turban. Her corsage was fashioned of gardenias and yellow roses.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hoctor entertained with a reception at their home and later the bride and bridegroom left on a trip to the northern part of Michigan. For her going-away costume the bride wore a two piece ensemble in brown with harmonizing accessories. Upon their return they will live in Urbana.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school in 1936 and attended St. Francis School of Nursing in Columbus. Mr. Midlam was graduated from the Ciaridon High school in 1935 and attended Ohio Northern university.

MODERATE LETUP IN STEEL ORDERS SEEN

But Heavy Production Is To Continue, Survey Shows.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 22—A moderate lessening in orders for certain steel products was noted today in the magazine "Steel," but it added that heavy production is likely for an extended period as unfilled business.

"Specific buying still is active, in some cases—principally in finished products—previous heavy buying is causing consumers to withdraw at least temporarily from the market," the review said. Plates and strip, for example, have specifications had been entered in recent weeks against contracts placed this spring and there is now less occasion for buyers to order ahead.

"Railroads appear unlikely to support exceptionally large equipment buying programs but have been buying repair material and freight cars at an improved rate lately and have additional purchases pending.

"Large lots of plates, shapes and piling will be required for pending and prospective construction work, an important part of which has some relation to preparedness measures.

"British purchases continue to dominate iron and steel export business, orders from England having expanded further so far this month. Demand from South America has been sluggish recently, caused not only by heavy buying early this year but also by the disappearance of certain European markets for south American products.

"Orders for manufacture of defense equipment still are relatively light, although aircraft builders and government shops continue important outlets for certain steel products, particularly specialties."

KENTON, July 22. — Hardin county Republicans today laid plans for the coming political campaign after electing Henry J. Pfeiffer, prominent local sportsman, theater operater, promoter of the National Leafy Oak Coonhound field trials and a member of the Ohio Natural Resources council, as chairman of the county Republican executive committee.

Clarence M. Cessna, Kenton attorney and long a counsellor in Republican politics, was named secretary. Other officers are Mrs. Cora Lyrick of Dunkirk, vice chairman; and C. C. O'Briant of Kenton, treasurer.

A joint meeting of executive and central committee members will be held Aug .16, Mr. Pfeiffer said.

GALION, July 22 — The marriage of Mildred Reid, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Reid of Galion to Ray Zachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Zachman of Mansfield, has been announced here. The event took place June 1, 1940, in Greenup, Ky.

GALION WOMAN'S FATHER KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Special to The Star

GALION, July 22. — Funeral services will be held at Kensington, Md., Tuesday at 10 a. m. for Jacob H. Taylor, 60, of Kensington, father of Mrs. Walter S. Goshorn of Galion.

Mr. Taylor was instantly killed Friday in an automobile accident near Ligonier, Ind., when he was returning from the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

Another occupant of the car, Mrs. Sarah Williams, 40, Washington, D. C., associated with Mr. Taylor in the National Council for the Prevention of War, was a passenger in the car and received minor injuries.

On his way to the convention, Mr. Taylor had stopped in Galion a week ago Thursday, and had planned a short visit here on his way home.

MONDAY, JULY 22, 1940

This Week, This Day

SOMETIME soon, perhaps this week, perhaps this day, Americans will quit speculating about the thing Germany is preparing to do to Great Britain and begin to watch it unfold.

The story will be hard to tell, communications will be shattered, censorship will be clamped down tighter than ever. If Germany is successful, the last open port of European news will be closed. Henceforth, nothing reliable will be known about what goes on abroad except as it can be smuggled furtively across the Atlantic ocean. Lisbon, the other remaining port of information, cannot last long with the Nazi hordes sweeping south through France into Spain.

An amazing thing has happened in the United States. It is not easy to understand it because the thing, itself, has happened at the expense of America's rationality about what is taking place. But dimly through the confusion it is as though Americans were waiting to watch the beginning of a battle as though it were a gladiatorial contest—not because they want to feel that way but because circumstances have reduced them to the status of spectators of a struggle which they dare not lose.

Talk Is Cheap

IN THE roundup of loose ends from the Democratic convention one detail seems destined to be increasingly important in the days to come.

The men who did the talking—who put up the front—were not the men running the party. Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce and lately administrator of WPA, represented President Roosevelt in Chicago. Mr. Hopkins said nothing. Interior Secretary Ickes, who had talked a blue streak for seven years, had nothing to say at Chicago. Nothing was heard from the Corcoran-Cohen front which completed at Chicago the purge it began, none too successfully, in 1938.

There were two hints that old line Democrats hated to be sunk without trace, but they were erased without trouble. Sen. Carter Glass nominated Jim Farley and aimed some potshots at President Roosevelt, safe in the White House. Rep. William B. Bankhead run a spirited but doomed race with Agriculture Secretary Wallace, spurred on by the votes of old line Democrats but finally dragged down by the overwhelming blocs of votes kept intact by the Kelly-Nash and Hague machines and the remnants of Tammany Hall.

Those who took the radio too seriously and imagined they heard the men who run the streamlined Democratic party of 1940 know now that what they really heard was a series of noises offstage.

Yes, It Would Be

OF COURSE it's unfair to pluck one incident out of its surroundings for the text of a sermonette, but some of England's talented young women are learning how to make munitions.

They are artists, actresses, writers—young women, not young men. They are going to take a three months course first—July, August, September. They will be ready then to help produce defense supplies.

One of them is quoted as saying the new work is "frightfully interesting." It's easy to imagine why it would be, with the dictators calling on Great Britain to surrender or be obliterated and Prime Minister Churchill stoutly saying the British will choose to be obliterated before they'll surrender. If Britain's talented young women and men had taken their training courses three months ago, the prospects of making something of their newly acquired skill would be a whale of a lot brighter than it is now. The United States hopes to be able to make national defense "frightfully interesting" without waiting for an enemy to provide "atmosphere."

Antidote for Too Much Politics

OUR forefathers, being wiser on the whole than their progeny, used to turn over politics to politicians once a year. It was a good antidote for political poisoning; politicians are immune to it.

There are some symptoms of political poisoning in evidence now. Otherwise placid men are beginning to mutter, "Well, the dirty so-and-so called me a bad name first. He doesn't need to think he can get away with that."

Another symptom is the tendency to brood on the subject in a despairing way—to get introspective about it. It doesn't take much of this monkey business to get a man started to believing the fate of the world can be made or unmade by what politicians say.

A general letdown in the good old-fashioned way is out of the question this summer; there's too much to do. But it is entirely feasible to let politicians do the heavy worrying about politics for a few days, a few weeks, perhaps even a few months. They thrive on it.

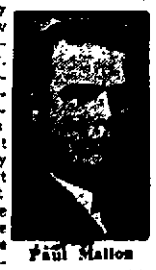
News Behind the News

Presidential Election "Highly in Doubt;" Answer Believed To Depend Upon Willkie.

By PAUL MALLON

CHICAGO, July 22—This coming election is highly in doubt today, it seems to me.

Defeat of the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket was so widely predicted in hoarse stage-whispers by numerous Democratic delegates here after the convention that no reporter could have failed to have heard the suggestion. But these came while the spell of personal disappointment was fresh. They came not only from those few who were dismayed at Mr. Roosevelt's decision to perpetuate his administration in his own person, but from the many—the very great many—who lost their pep for the ticket when the President chose a political stranger to them, Mr. Wallace as his companion.



Paul Mallon

Delegates from Indiana told me in all seriousness for instance that their state would be lost by 100,000 or more due to the lack of enthusiasm among McNutt's friends for the way he has been treated. A Texas Democrat actually insisted a miracle would occur in Texas and a Republican would carry the state. There were other such suggestions. One publicity man attached to a candidate started seeking a job with Willkie before the convention was over.

Symptoms

This first evidence is too hot and prejudiced to be considered anything near conclusive, it does clearly suggest that symptoms of another Al Smith campaign have arisen out of this convention. In that campaign, the leaders went through the motions of support for their candidate, but their energy was not equal to their words. They said, "Al is a great man, we are for him" but when the votes were counted, no Smith votes could be found, including theirs.

This country still has the secret Australian ballot system. If those local political leaders who attended this convention feel a surpassing principle is at stake or that a wrong has been done to them or their friends, they can devote most of their campaign energies to saving their local tickets in which their initial personal interest lies anyway. They can cut the national ticket, as cold as Al's was cut in a campaign which established the all time low in silent political frigidity.

As I say, only the initial suggestions of such a technique were evident here. The campaign will develop how it will work out. No one may know the answer until the votes are counted on election day.

Certainly no one now expects Mr. Roosevelt to poll more than 75 per cent of the vote he drew in 1936. The most ardent Roosevelt partisan does not expect more as of today.

It is likewise just as clear a fact that the result of the 1936 electoral landslide could have been changed by redistribution of far less than 25 per cent of the popular vote.

Up To Willkie

But does this mean Willkie is in the bag? Far from it in my opinion.

Reason is on the side of the Republicans this time, but emotions are still with the third term party. There are millions of people today whose emotional self interest has completely sold them on Roosevelt beyond the ability of reason to challenge. He could do anything, and they would still vote for him, because they believe he personally is responsible for their old age security, their farm checks, public work, their union or just simply because they think he is for the poor man, and they are still poor. If Willkie is going to crack this blind faith, he must reach down below the white collar middle classes. Today I do not believe Willkie is widely known or understood among the voters. They have not yet become acquainted with him. He cannot depend on intelligence to do the job. He cannot reach them with reason alone. He must make an emotional appeal, a wide deep and stirring national crusade to establish himself as an authentic champion of the great majority. He must prove his worth by his campaign.

So I think the election is all up to Willkie, up to his actions and ability. There is nothing much Mr. Roosevelt can do for himself, except to patch his fences where he can, and play the emotional appeal of defenses and war as much as he can, permitting his flame throwers to beat the bushes and arouse emotions against "bankers, Wall Streeters" with the well used and formerly effective theme.

Roosevelt has his votes. Willkie must win his. But I have not yet found a Republican who doubts Willkie's ability to meet the test.

Canada Gets Ready

Puts All Strength Into Preparations for War.

By JOHN LEAR

Associated Press correspondent in Ottawa, Canada, who has been making a study of the Dominion's status relative to the war.

• • •

CANADA is girding for war, on Germany's terms. All the strength that can be mustered is being put into it. On the theory that whoever controls the air wins the ultimate victory, the canadian air force is getting special attention.

One thing is certain. No matter who wins the coming battle in Great Britain, Canada will become more important. If Hitler overruns the British isles, the dominion will become the new seat of the British empire. If Britain staves off the aggressor, Canada's war effort will have embarked it on the path to greater influence.

The very earth of a large part of the Dominion is being moved in the titanic defense for air struggle. Every Canadian contracting firm equipped to take part in the task is working at top speed, with capacity manpower, building 82 airfields and airdromes. So fevered is the effort that contracts have been split up to give each company so many square feet of land to clear and so many buildings to erect.

Existing facilities of 34 of the 51 fields and hangars of Trans-Canada airline—the government owned cross continent commercial flying system—already have been put to use in a program intended to train 20,000 pilots and gunners a year. Twenty-five million dollars have been plunked down on the counter for this training scheme alone. This is only the first installment.

THE question now is not pilots but planes. Hundreds of lads have been in training for weeks, learning to fly and fight aloft, at Trenton (Canada's aerial West Point) and Borden Field. They take off and land in a steady stream all day long. They have plenty of single-engined craft of the fast fighter type to practice in, but they are short of two-engined ships used for bombing and long range patrol.

Canada looks to the United States to supply these planes, because England cannot—she needs all her planes for herself—and Canada is not yet ready to produce at the necessary speed.

The reason Henry Ford's refusal to make plane motors for the empire raised such a furor in Canada was that engines are the "bottleneck" of the Canadian air industry, just as they are in the United States. In Canada the problem is further complicated by the fact the dominion, geared to a plan that called for England to supply motors for Canadian-built ships, was not prepared for the crisis precipitated by the surrender of France.

Current production of planes within the Dominion is unknown. A good guess can be made, however, from the official announcement that in May, 1940, all plane plants together employed 5,711 persons. Best available estimate is that 10 small factories are making a total of about 30 ships a month. The output presently scheduled by the government for 1940 is 1,028 planes, and 1,583 for 1941.

NEW plants are being built at Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. Canadian branches of the two largest United States plane makers were recently enlarged, and soon their output will be doubled. In all, present employment will be quadrupled to meet orders now on hand.

The tremendous jump involved is apparent in government statistics from the past. Canada made no planes in 1933, 18 planes in 1935, 109 planes in 1936, 110 planes in 1937, and 282 planes in 1938.

Secret of this predicament is that England expected to strangle the Nazis in a war of attrition which would not reach its climax for at least three years. It planned its air defenses accordingly. When the blitzkrieg struck and succeeded in days and months instead of years, defenses just weren't ready.

Planes that were to go to Canada for training purposes and engines that were to go into Canadian built fuselages were needed in Britain. Bombers bought and flown from the United States were not enough. Everything available in Canada was requisitioned, with the result there are not now even enough two motored ships in Canada to train the pilots and gunners being trained to fly for England. Because of this shortage, fliers slated as instructors have been sent to England to fight instead.

In the face of these obstacles, Canada has persevered. Its air force numbered 16,000 men by mid-June. Three squadrons (a squadron has 16 to 18 ships, 304 to 467 men) are overseas as independent units in addition to an all-Canadian squadron flying with the Royal Air Force. Nine squadrons are ready for home defense, with three more to come. An undisclosed number of planes fly with the convoys out of Halifax.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, July 22, 1930.

James Cohen, 72, died of heat prostration, the first Marion county victim of the torrid wave which had held Ohio and the midwest in its grip since Thursday. His was one of 13 deaths in Ohio in the last 24 hours. The 13 included Ebert E. Ertley, 3, of Galion.

Mrs. C. E. Turley, wife of Dr. Turley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, returned home after two weeks at Ocean Grove, N. J., where she taught classes in the school of methods for the Women's Missionary society.

Miss Ruth Weckmueller of Milwaukee was visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Weckmueller of South Prospect street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beamsnyder of Stark court.

Mrs. James Peacock Jr. was hostess to the Wide Awake club at her home on Belmont street. Mrs. C. W. Swisher was enrolled as a member.

Marion Council 871, Knights of Columbus, installed officers headed by Dr. W. A. Dennis as grand knight.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, July 22, 1920.

A throng of many thousands was in Marion for the formal ceremonies notifying Warren G. Harding of his nomination for the presidency. The notification address was given by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. He declared that domestic and economic questions would have to be dealt with at once in a manner to meet the needs of the times. He made a plea that the country stand by the policies of Washington and support the Monroe Doctrine to the utmost. . . . Senator Harding in his speech of acceptance pledged fidelity to the country and to God. "Mindful of the vast responsibilities, I must be frankly humble," he said, "but I have that confidence in the consideration and support of all true Americans which makes me wholly unafraid. With unalterable faith and in a hopeful spirit, with a hymn of service in my heart, I pledge fidelity to my country and to God."

A dominant note in his speech was a call for peace. "In the call of the conscience of America is peace, peace that closes the gaping wound of World war and silences the international voices of envy and distrust," he said. "Heeding this call and knowing as I do the disposition of the congress, I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign. Then we may turn to our readjustment at home and proceed deliberately and reflectively to that hoped-for world relationship which shall satisfy both conscience and aspirations and still hold us free from menacing involvement." . . . Garfield park pavilion where the ceremony took place was bedecked with flags and bunting. The exercises started at 2 p. m. The entire city, in fact, was gaily decorated and the line of march from the Union depot east on Center street, south to Church street and east past Senator Harding's home and headquarters was especially rich in decorations. This was the route that incoming delegations took, the first ones arriving early in the morning and others continuing steadily up until the time for opening of the notification ceremonies. Perhaps the most striking decoration was a solid court of honor beginning at Main and Center streets and following the line of march past the home of the nominee. Solid columns of white with latticed columns between extended from Church and State streets out to Harding headquarters. . . . Members of the Harding Marching club furnished escorts for members of the visiting delegations. They wore white trousers, blue coats and straw hats and each had a marching club badge and carried a cane. Maj. George T. Geran remained at Harding headquarters to direct the delegations marching past. John H. Clark was in charge of the reception at the Union station. W. N. Harder was stationed at Leader street and the entire movement of the delegations was in charge of Maj. Chester Roberts, chairman of the Marching club's committee. G. Farr Larie had charge of the music . . . Senator Harding began his program of notification day by raising the flag to the top of the historic flag pole in his front yard at 7 a. m. The flagpole was the one used in the front yard of President McKinley in his campaign of 1896. During the morning many well-known national figures arrived at the Harding home to pay their respects before the notification. Among them was Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. . . . A delegation of Woman's Suffragists called on Senator Harding in the morning in accordance with an appointment made about two weeks before. Mrs. John Gordon Battele of Columbus was chairman and acted as spokesman along with Mrs. H. O. Havermeyer of New York City, head of the Women's Land party, and Sue F. White, Tennessee state chairman of the National Women's party.

"Value of Gold" Plank

One Sentence in G. O. P. Platform Requires Explanation.

By WALTER E. SPAHR

Professor of Economics, New York University.

ONE SENTENCE in the otherwise excellent money plank in the Republican platform is evidently the work of laymen and will require interpretation if its vague meaning is to be converted into anything concrete. The sentence reads "We shall . . . take all possible steps to preserve the value of the government's huge holdings of gold . . ."

The word "value of gold" can have any one of three distinct meanings. It is worthwhile to review these in order that the nature of the "value of gold" sentence in the Republican money plank may be understood. Apparently this vague wording was a layman's attempt to recognize the popular but untenable notion that Hitler may do something to impair "the value" of our gold supply. While the sentence is harmless and perhaps sounds as though it had some virtue it merely reveals that its authors could not have realized what they were saying. An examination of the three meanings of the value of gold will make this clear.

1. The value of gold may refer to the number of gold dollars into which an ounce of gold is coined. We coin an ounce of fine gold into $35. This is a matter of congressional authority, although this authority has, within limits, been delegated temporarily to the President who can reduce the size of our gold dollar—that is, raise the dollar price of gold—still further.

What could the platform sentence mean here? If the President should devalue further and mark up the dollar value of our gold stock, that would not only preserve but increase the value of the government's holdings of gold. Used in this sense, the platform sentence could only mean that congress and the President should not lower the dollar price of gold. Its drafters probably had no such thought in mind.

2. The value of gold may refer to its value in terms of other currency—for example, in terms of our inconvertible paper money. If, for any reason, our paper money should depreciate in terms of gold, as, for instance, it probably would if unsecured greenbacks were issued, the paper dollar value of our gold stock would not only be preserved but would rise.

What could the platform sentence mean here? It was undoubtedly not intended to refer to any such case as this.

3. The value of gold may refer to its value in terms of the prices of the commodities which comprise our price level. In this sense the value of our gold would be preserved if the price level did not rise; and its value would be increased if the price level fell.

One may safely assume that the authors of that sentence were not advocating a steady or falling price level.

Since the sentence is out of harmony with these three meanings of the value of gold, one can only guess at what its authors supposed they were saying. This is a fine illustration of what sometimes happens when laymen attempt to write in a technical field on the supposition that the matter involved is not technical because common words are used and that anyone can understand the money question.

It seems highly probable that the authors of that sentence supposed that they would try to preserve "the value" of our gold stock against Hitler, since this is a thought that is creeping into our newspapers these days. Just how a barter system introduced by Hitler could impair the "value" of our gold stock—using value in any of the three senses—has never, so far as I have seen, been explained. Many wild assumptions have been advanced, and in each case it has been clear that their authors had no comprehension of the fallacies involved.

All that the platform sentence should mean is that the Republicans, if elected, will maintain the gold dollar price of gold at $35 per fine ounce. It is a known fact that such a specific and clear sentence was removed from the original draft of the money plank and the present meaningless one substituted.

With the increasing power of Prussia dur... the early 1860's, the German chancellor Bis... marck was reported convinced of the necessity of obtaining a safe shortcut to take the place of the old route around the Danish peninsula and islands. Denmark was invaded, and the long contested Schleswig-Holstein territory, through which the canal now runs, was won. Work on the Kaiser Wilhelm canal was completed in 1895.

Activities at the canal have twice marked the approach of a great war. Not long before the first World war, Germany enlarged the canal in order to permit dreadnaughts and other big vessels to make speedy passage from the North sea to the Baltic.

In the spring of 1939, the Kiel canal—as its name had become in the meantime—was the scene of further enlargements and improvements, lock facilities for the still bigger warships that Germany had been rushing to completion.

This winding, 62 mile sea lane is an immense convenience—as constant attacks indicate—as a working axis between the vital German naval bases of Wilhelmshaven on the North sea and Kiel at the eastern outlet facing the Baltic sea. In peacetime the canal is of inestimable value in commercial shipping.

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F. DODDS

So aroused were Ohioans in 1819 by establishment of federal bank branches at Chillicothe and Cincinnati that they elected legislators and the governor on campaign pledges to ruin the bank out of the state.

The "crowbar" law, passed by the general assembly on Feb. 8, 1819, aimed to tax the bank out of existence by a $50,000 annual levy on each branch bank.

John Marshall, U. S. supreme court chief justice, ruled the tax unconstitutional and the branches refused to pay.

Despite all this, State Auditor Ralph Osborn ordered two assistants, John L. Harper and Thomas Orr, to collect the $50,000 from the Chillicothe bank. The two entered the bank and forcibly took $100,000. Finally, however, the banks' position was upheld and the money returned.

Indians Take Two from Red Sox to Keep on Heels of Red Hot Tigers

Yankees Drop Twin Bill to Detroit; Reds Pound Giants, 6-1 and 4-2.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers may not be a perfect ball club, but they're a red hot one, and that's what it looks like the American league is going to pay off on.

It's still a long haul to the finish line, but the Tigers have just succeeded in winning five consecutive contests from the world champion New York Yankees and the rich Red Sox of Boston.

The Yankees themselves were as warm as the weather until the Tigers came to town and turned on some real heat. Detroit scored four runs in the ninth inning to win the first game of a doubleheader yesterday 4-3 and then battled back again to take the nightcap 3-2.

Fans Get Rowdy

It was a stirring show in which 68,580 fans participated, staging one of the worst exhibitions of rowdyism the grim, grey walls of Yankee Stadium ever have witnessed. They threw pop bottles, fruit and other missiles at Umpire Joe Rue in the second game after he ruled a liner by Tom Henrich landed foul and they didn't stop the demonstration until a detachment of city police stationed themselves at strategic spots throughout the stands.

The Cleveland Indians, who were crushed in their series at New York, completed a sweep of a three-game stand in Boston by whipping the Red Sox 3-2 and 2-0 in a twin bill.

In the National league the Cincinnati Reds mopped up the New York Giants 6-1 and 4-2 to make their score 20 victories in the last 25 games, certainly a championship pace.

Dodgers Slip

The Brooklyn Dodgers gave ground again by dividing a doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Dodgers captured the opener 3-1 but in the second affair Enos Slaughter punched out two round trip tickets off Luke Hamlin, one with two on, to lead the way to a 5-2 triumph.

The Pittsburgh Pirates again demoralized the Boston Bees, sweeping a bargain bill 5-3 and 18-2 on top of Saturday's 17-6 bombardment. Manager Frank Frisch substituted a "second team" in the midst of the second game to rest his veterans from the heat.

The Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Phillies split two games, the taliender's copping the first 8-2 on Hugh Mulcahy's six-hit hurling and Chicago coming back to win the second 8-5 with a 16-hit offensive.

The Chicago White Sox finished off a sweep of their series with the Philadelphia Athletics with 10-8 and 7-2 verdicts in a couple of free-swinging affairs.

Browns, Nats Split

The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators divided two games, George McQuinn and Joe Grace hit home runs as the Browns pounded out an 8-4 decision in the first game and McQuinn hit a three-run homer as St. Louis outslugged the Senators in the nightcap, but lost 5-4.

Dutch Leonard, knuckleball ace of the Senators, burst a blood vessel in his hand in the first game and had to be relieved.

Indians Break Even on Tour

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 22 — The Cleveland Indians return home today for a two-week stand against the eastern clubs, eager to "get 'em in our own yard."

Sunday's double victory over the Boston Red Sox gave the tribesmen a .500 per cent result for their traditionally tough tour of the eastern ball lots which bumped them out of first place by a game and a half.

Leaders in the new winning streak were Bob Feller who hurled a 3-to-2 victory in the double headers' first contest, and Joe Dobson who put himself in the pitching corps' first rank with a 2-to-0 masterpiece.

Feller held the Sox to five hits. Their guns came in on a sixth-inning homer by shortstop Joe Cronin.

The Indians hammered Jim Bagby and Joe Heving for twice that many hits.

The Indians will open their home stand tomorrow night as hosts to Philadelphia.

BENEFIT GAME SET FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

Oakland, Epworth Paired; Will Aid Fence Fund.

Final preparations were made today for the benefit till tomorrow night at Lincoln park between Oakland and Epworth, softball officials announced. The proceeds of the game are to be added to a fund for the purchase and erection of a new fence at Lincoln Park.

Oakland and Epworth are in the one and two spots in the Sunday School No. 1 loop. The former has a record of nine wins out of 10 starts while the latter, last season's pennant winner in the No. 1 circuit, has chalked up eight victories against two setbacks. Both teams will send their ace pitchers to the mound. Maurice Whitcum, who has won seven out of eight contests, has been nominated for Epworth. Harry Moak will toil on the mound for Oakland. His record is blemished by a single loss for ten No. 1 league games.

Admission is 10c and tickets may be obtained at the Y M C A or at the gate. Persons having season tickets for admissions to a series of ten games at Lincoln park may use them for this game also. All city league games scheduled for tomorrow night have been postponed. The game will start at 6:15 p. m.

Cubs and Dodgers Stage Free-for-All for Ladies

The pennant-chasing Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs recently provided 17,500 ladies day fans with unscheduled, but diverting, entertainment when they tangled in a free-for-all fight in the eighth inning of the game which the Cubs finally won, 11 to 4. Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs is shown here, center, holding back Dodger outfielder Joe Gallagher, No. 2, while an umpire strives to restore order. Members of both teams rushed on the field and tangled after pitcher Claude Passeau of the Cubs hurled his bat at pitcher Hugh Casey of the Dodgers when Casey hit Passeau with what the latter thought was a "bean" ball.

Mid-Season Near for Legion Leagues

Two Junior Circuits of 12 Teams Active; All Stars Defeat Mt. Gilead, 7-1.

The first half of the American Legion baseball league's season is almost completed, the officials in charge reported today. An All-Star team, composed of the cream of the two leagues, defeated the Mt. Gilead baseball team Thursday in the All-Star's first game of the season.

Two organized leagues, the Junior and the prep, have been playing. The junior circuit is made up of seven teams of boys under 17 years of age. The prep loop, known as the Walter E. Hane league, in memory of the late Walter E. Hane who was instrumental in bringing Legion baseball to Marion, is for boys under 14 and is composed of five clubs. The former loop plays twice a week on Tuesdays and Thursdays while the latter has been playing but once a week on Mondays. During the second half, however, the prep league will play on Monday and Friday.

Teams in the junior league have one more game each to play in the first half. A single game between the Red Birds and the Red Wings is the only game in the prep league remaining. These games will be played the early part of next week while the second half gets under way the latter part of the week.

The All-Star team, which is entirely different from the one in the district Legion tournament, defeated Mt. Gilead 7-1 Thursday at the Latter's home diamond. This was the first of a number of games to be played by this group. The Marion team pounded out 10 hits behind the four-hit pitching of Howard Hodges. Runt was the big gun at bat for the winners as he slapped out three hits in five trips to the plate, including a homer in the seventh. Shirk and Wilson of Marion each hit two safeties. Breese, the losing pitcher, fanned 18 of the Marion batsmen, despite all the slugging.

The Mt. Gilead club will seek revenge when it visits Marion, Aug. 1, for another game with the All-Stars.

Score by innings of Thursday's game and the standings of both leagues follow:

Marion	0	0	0	1	1	0	3	0	2	—7
Mt. Gilead	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—1

Marion	10	0
Mt. Gilead	4	2

PRISON FARM TEAM WINS AT PEN, 3-1

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 22—"Henderson's Hurricanes," Ohio penitentiary softball stars, were convinced and determined today that their hour of greatness merely was postponed by Saturday's 3-to-1 loss to "Amrine's Angels," their former buddies from the London prison farm.

The two teams tangle again next Saturday, and the Saturday after that. In the first series ever played between the two institutions.

The 1,600 convicts attending the game at O. Henry field in the prison had little to cheer about after their first inning when their favorites scored their only run, but they received free lemonade.

The teams derive their names from Warden Frank D. Henderson of the penitentiary and Supt. W. F. Amrine of the prison farm.

FINDLAY'S STREAK ENDS

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., July 22—The seven-game winning streak of the Findlay Oilers in the Ohio State league ended abruptly yesterday as the Mansfield Braves took both ends of a twin bill, 8-to-7. Fremont and Tiffin divided a wild double header, Fremont taking the first 21 to 12 and Tiffin the second 10 to 4. Lima and Fostoria also split, the league leading Pandas winning the first 7 to 1 and Fostoria the second, 5 to 4.

192 VIE FOR TITLE IN PUBLINX TOURNEY

Five Former Champs in Field at Detroit.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 22—The headliners of America's pay-as-you-play golfers, conceding nothing to anyone in scoring ability, open the 19th annual national Public Links championship here today with five former winners in the field.

A total of 192 linksmen, survivors of a records entry of 2,601 that played in 40 sectional tests, tees off today on the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round. The low 64 scorers in the two-day test will earn places in the match play which starts Wednesday.

Defending champion is husky Andrew Szwedko, Pittsburgh steel worker. Other former winners in the field are Carl F. Kauffmann, also of Pittsburgh, only three-time winner with victories in 1927, 1928 and 1929; Charles Ferrera of San Francisco, 1931 and 1933 champion; David A. Mitchell of Atlanta, the 1934 titlist, and Al Leach of Cleveland, 1938 champion.

JUNIOR HEAVIES SET FOR BOUTS AT SHOVEL

Junior heavyweights hold the limelight on the wrestling card booked for tonight at the Uncapher avenue outdoor arena.

Buck Weaver of Terre Haute, Ind., and Paavo Ketonen of Finland, will trade grips in the 90-minute main go. The popular ringsters, who two weeks ago coupled their efforts to win an Australia team match, are well-matched. Ketonen may be expected to attempt to stop his foe with the "pile-driver" barrage he's used in the past, while Weaver will match the attack with his favorite "drop-kick."

Dick Trout of Los Angeles, Calif., and Walter (Sneeze) Achu, the Hawaiian who won fame as a football hero at Dayton university are matched for the 45-minute semi-final. James Heffner and Ned Taylor will do the honors in the 20-minute prelim which starts the show at 8:30.

WINS SHOOT TITLE

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 22 — The state championship and most of the other awards in Ohio's pistol matches were carried home today by R. S. Marshall of Lima. Taking the crown from Roy Bracken of Columbus by scoring 570 out of a possible 600, the Lima crackshot went on to win the state's grand aggregate title with a score of 1,677 out of 1,800. Bracken won the .38 caliber slow fire matches.

PRO LOOP PLANNED

Mar-O-Del Beats Marysville Tourney On at Country Club

Marion golfers played under a relentless sun yesterday as they toured both local courses. A number of the Country club members played their first round matches in the two tournaments being held there this month, while Mar-O-Del players were host to Marysville in an interclub match.

COUNTRY CLUB

The hot weather was all that Pro Bill Schimmel needed to match par, stroke for stroke, as he had a 74 for the low score of the day. Carl Wiseman fired a 77 in the morning for the second low score and toured the nine hole layout again in the afternoon for 80. Matthew Carmean had a 47 on his first round and came back with a one over par, 38, for 85. Kenneth Bolinger and James C. Woods Jr. had 88 and 89.

Louis G. Uhl carded 83 while Dr. W. A. Dennis took 89 strokes to complete his 18 holes. Marshall Sterett took 90.

Five matches were played in the Club championship tournament. Herb Pelrich, defending champion, showed that he will be in the race again this year as he turned back J. B. Bray 3-2. Fred Sage Jr. chalked up 83 to Leo Groll's 87 to defeat the latter 2 up. John Glackin's 83 edged K. M. Bower, who carded an 87, 2-1. Bob Owens, winner of the club event a number of times, demonstrated that he will be a serious contender this year as he defeated Jack Jennings 3-1. Owens shot a 78 to Jennings' 81. G. E. Darnell defeated James C. Woods Jr. 3-1 in a hard fought battle. Woods was four down at the end of the first nine and then came back on the second round to carry the match to the seventeenth green. He turned in 86 to Darnell's 82.

Woods made up for his defeat in the Club championship by defeating Mark Pinkerman 5-3 in the only first round match played in Class A of the handicap tournament. P. M. Curl upset Paul Bachman 3-2 in one of the three matches played in Class B of the handicap event. J. A. Raub trimmed Kenneth E. Fields 5-4 while L. D. Cahoon won by default from J. P. Sharkey in the other first round matches.

Bill Schimmel, club pro, will give another one of his weekly free lessons to junior members at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday. All those under 18 years of age are urged to attend.

Golf followed by a perch dinner, will be on the program for club members Wednesday at a stag party.

MAR-O-DEL

The Mar-O-Del team smothered Marysville 39-15 in the latter's invasion yesterday. Tom McConnell won the championship of the second flight of the June handicap by defeating Don Quigley 1 in the 18 hole final.

McConnell and Quigley are new to the game this year. The former shot a 46-41—87 while Quigley had a 51-43—94. The second round was the lowest each has had this year.

Howard Henry and Ed D. set the pace for the home team victory as they both fired over par 76's. Henry had a under par 36, for one nine and completed the other with a Dutt was two under regulation figures on his first nine for 35 and slipped to a 41 on the second. Bud Baker and Rose Graham were next low for the day with 77 and 79 respectively. George Morelock was low for the visitors with an 80.

The Mar-O-Del team will go to Upper Sandusky this coming Sunday. These two clubs stand even in two previously played matches this year.

The scores and points scored in yesterday's matches are listed below by twosomes with the Marysville players first. The players vied for three points in each match. One point went to the winner of each nine and another to the winner of the 18.

First Half of 1940 Busiest Building Period Since 1931

World Rumblings Fail To Affect Construction Work, Nationwide Survey of Permits Shows.

COLUMBUS, O., July 22 — [illegible] political and economic [illegible] throughout the world [illegible] to deter the Americ[illegible] building industry nor to slow [illegible] of the typically Americ[illegible] of providing homes for [illegible] owners, W. A. Keyes, [illegible] newly-elected president [illegible] Real Estate associa[illegible] ected today.

[illegible] a fine tribute to the faith [illegible] have placed in the fu[illegible] our country to note that in [illegible] which the remainder of [illegible] is being torn asunder, [illegible] have taken steps to [illegible] homes than in any [illegible]-depression year," Mr.

Figures for 1940

[illegible] his assertion on lat[illegible] compilation of building per[illegible] prepared by Dun & [illegible], Inc., which showed [illegible] the first six months of [illegible] were taken for con[illegible] valued at $649,706,485. [illegible] compared with $621,370,- [illegible]939 and was the largest [illegible] since 1931 when $699,- [illegible] in permits were taken in the 215 major cities covered in the survey.

Ohio's two largest cities did their share in pushing the national total above last year, Mr. Keyes pointed out, calling attention to the fact that the value of permits in Cleveland for the six months was $9,159,300 against $7,-697,000 last year; and in Cincinnati was $10,080,580 against $8,-783,090.

Not Due to Defense Boom

These gains, he pointed out, are entirely apart from any expansion which may result from the national defense program. President Roosevelt having sent his first defense message to congress less than two weeks before the end of the six-month period.

"Industrial expansion will undoubtedly bring more earning power to workers in many communities. In addition, these expansions are bound to cause shifts in population to industrial centers in the near future with the result that more housing will be needed in the future. "Ohio real estate men stand ready to cope with the needs of their individual communities as they arise. And it is worthy to note that these problems can find their solution only in the local communities," Mr. Keyes concluded.

Y TENNIS RESULTS

First and Second Round Scores Reported.

Results of several of the matches in the first and second rounds of the senior men's division of the first annual mid-summer tennis tournament for members of the Y. M. C. A. were announced today. No matches were played in the junior or women's divisions.

[illegible] players ceded to the sec[illegible] round were upset yesterday. [illegible] Stafford defeated John [illegible] in the first upset, 6-1, 1-6 and 7-5 and Dick Eicher swept [illegible] straight sets by identical 6-3 scores from Gene Roberts. Eicher [illegible] the right to meet Roberts [illegible] defeating Newton Cunningham earlier in the afternoon in a first round contest. Eicher and Cunningham had tied Friday 2-6, 6-3 and 6-6. The last set went to [illegible] in the playoff yesterday.

[illegible] Hurst ousted Bob Maynard [illegible] the tournament by scores of [illegible] and 6-0. Bill Evans edged [illegible] Leffler 6-4, 3-6 and 7-5. Bob [illegible] hammered Harold Cohen 6-4 and [illegible] while Bud Burke had little trouble defeating Sam Birnbaum 7-5 and 6-0.

Matches will be played all this week and it is hoped to have the finals Sunday.

Former Teachers, Pupils at Morral School Reunion

"Remembering when" was the order of the day when former teachers and pupils of the old Morral school met for their third annual gathering and picnic Sunday at building in Morral. Approximately 100 members and guests attended.

C. G. Francis of Marion presided for a business session during which officers for the coming year were elected. They are: Mr. Iona Washburn Lane of Marion, president, G. H. Crim of near LaRue, vice president, and Mrs. Carrie Washburn Barnthouse of Marion, secretary-treasury.

A program was in charge of Mrs. Ethel Riley Smith of Marion. Mrs. C. G. Ritzler of Marion conducted a memorial service. Mrs. Belle M. Williams of Jefferson conducted a devotional period. Music included a vocal solo by Miss Faith Line, a vocal duet by Misses Hope and Faith Line, and a vocal solo by Miss Jane Ruth, all of Marion. The accompaniments were played by Robert Dillinger and George Lane also of Marion.

Talks on their experiences as superintendents of the "old school" were given by T. E. Bolander of Marion, and A. N. Hornby of Parma. Dr. N. E. Davis of Worthington, financial secretary of Hospitals and Homes of the Methodist church, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Morral of Morral, was presented by Mr. Morral and gave a talk on education and the work being done by surgeons and nurses in the various hospitals in this and foreign lands. The invocation for the dinner was spoken by W. B. Burley of Marion.

Members and guests were present from Marion, Agosta, Jefferson, Harpster, LaRue, Findlay, Parma, Nevada, Columbus, Salineville and Forest.

The reunion next year will be held the third Sunday in July at the same place.

Arrangements for the picnic were in charge of Mrs. W. A. DeLong of Marion, general chairman, Mrs. Ethel Riley Smith and Mrs. Iona Washburn Lane of Marion.

LIFE'S JOURNEY TOPIC AT UNION SERVICES

Attention to Everyday Living Urged by Rev. Wierth.

"As we press on toward the goals which we have envisioned for ourselves we must be mindful of the journey, for without the journey there is no goal," Rev. E. H. Wierth of First Evangelical and Reformed church said in his union service sermon last night at Central Christian church.

His sermon on "As We Journey," was based on the text, "Be not deceived God is not mocked, as a man soweth so shall he also reap," from Galations, 6:7.

In part, he spoke as follows:

"Few people deny the desirability of an educated life but by refusal to study they miss that goal. Married life goes on the rocks because the participants neglect to carry out those lovely, gracious observances by which alone it is possible. The same is true of friendship.

"There are other goals. The American people have the great goal of a free, democratic people.

"This great principle of doing something about the goal as we journey is finally also true of the religious life. We as religious people are living very shoddy, low-grade Christian lives. We are men of faith in theory, but not men of successful Christian living. We fail to implement what we believe.

Clerk of Courts Carl Haberman was the speaker at the young people's meeting preceding the service. The young people's hour was in charge of the young people of Rev. Wierth's church.

SAYS PRESENT WAR NOT ARMAGEDDON

Evangelist Predicts Biblical Battle Will Be in Palestine.

"This war in Europe is not the Battle of Armageddon as many believe, for it is not being fought at the right place," Rev. C. A. Blackmore of Erie, Pa. declared in his sermon at the Central Ohio Young People's Fellowship club service last night at the Chautauqua pavilion. "Things are being moved to position for this great battle but it will be fought on the Plains of Megiddo in Palestine," he said.

His sermon dealt with the world's three great events, the Birth of Christ, His second coming and His coming to earth with the church.

Yesterday afternoon he preached on "The Evangelization of Youth," and said: "Education without character is almost a curse. The time to win young people is when they are little."

Rev. Blackmore will preach again tonight at 7:45.

Tuesday the conference will welcome Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Hollifield of Fort Wayne, Ind. and their assistant Bert Wilhoit who will have charge of children's work each afternoon, and also will assist with the music. Services will be held every afternoon and night through Friday, Rev. Hollifield will conduct Bible studies in the afternoons and evangelistic services at night.

Rev. Harold Palmer of Chicago, former Marion resident who plans to go to the Philippine Islands in the near future, will talk on his work at the Tuesday afternoon and night services.

Announcement was made yesterday that the annual fall Bible conference will be held at the pavilion Sept. 1-15 with Dr. A. I. Brown, surgeon, scientist and Bible teacher as the speaker. Dr. Brown was here last year for the club's Bible conference.

Merchants Split Twin Bill With Columbus; Other Marion Teams Win

The largest crowd this year was on hand Sunday to witness the benefit doubleheader at Garfield park between the Marion Merchants and the highly-touted Columbus Colored Speedway A. C.'s softball team. The Merchants pulled an upset in the first game as they beat the A. C.'s, 5-4, and dropped the nightcap, 11-2.

Marion fans were entertained by the clowning of the Columbus players, headed by Herb Marshall, their famous no-hit twirler, who mixed nonsense with heads-up ballplaying. A collection was taken between games for the American Red Cross.

The Merchants seemed to forget about three previous shellackings from the A. C.'s as they hopped on Pitcher Marshall in the first inning of the opener. Kunkle, the first man up for the Merchants, drew a walk. Howison broke the tenseness with a single to left and with it all of Marshall's hopes of a no-hitter. With two men on base Roy Everly went down swinging and Ferrin received a free ticket to first. Roseberry, second baseman for the Merchants, dropped a single into left field to score Kunkle and Howison. Reid, the next man up, struck out. Pitcher Bill Everly singled to right, scoring Ferrin and Roseberry. Reid, the last man up, grounded out, second to first. The Merchants chalked up a total of four runs on three hits.

There was no more scoring until the third inning when Marshall lifted a long high fly ball for a home run. Mickey Ferrin clouted a four bagger in the Merchants half of the third to keep the four-run lead. Bill Everly kept the A. C.'s pretty much under control the remainder of the game although they chased one run across in the fifth and two more in the sixth. Yank Willis of Columbus ended the game by lining to Ferrin at short.

The A. C.'s didn't waste any time in the second game as they romped home with four runs in the initial frame on one hit and three errors.

Caldwell stood out in this game for Columbus with a triple and a single. Bob Reid hit a double for the only extra base hit by the local players.

In the other games played Sunday by Marion teams, Eagles, Marion A. C.'s and the Marion R.A.C.'s were victorious.

The Eagles baseball team hammered two Columbus pitchers for 20 safeties and a 12-4 triumph at Lincoln park. Owen Creasap led the local team at bat with three triples and a single in five times up. He also drove in half of the winner's 12 runs.

The Marion Colored A. C.'s blasted the Wyandot baseball club as they won, 25-8, at the latters' park. The Marion team collected 22 base hits including two circuit blows apiece by H. Adams and West and one by W. Adams. Spied rapped out a homer for the losers.

The Marion R.A.C.'s chalked up their sixth straight win by defeating the Bucyrus Merchants, 6-2, at Sugar Grove Park. King Bacon went the route for the locals and only gave up three hits while fanning 12. Bob Taylor led both teams at bat with a triple, double and single for four times at bat.

11 WYANDOT CO. MOTORISTS INJURED

Victims of Two Accidents Near Upper Sandusky.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 22—Eleven motorists were injured in two traffic mishaps near here last night and early today.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Birchfield, about 25, of Columbus are in Bucyrus City hospital receiving treatment for injuries suffered about 1 a. m. today when their car struck two utility poles and overturned at the edge of Upper Sandusky. Mr. Birchfield, a reporter on a Columbus newspaper, was quoted as saying he fell asleep while he and his wife were returning to Columbus from a Lake Erie resort.

A two-car collision northeast of here last night resulted in serious injury to William Hauff, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hauff of near Upper Sandusky and minor injuries to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller and daughter Carol of near Upper Sandusky and to three occupants of the other car involved, Mr. and Mrs. William Dome and their nephew, Roy Stansberry, all of near Upper Sandusky.

The six occupants of the Hauff car were taken to Bucyrus hospital but all were released later except William, who suffered a serious head injury. The occupants of the Dome car were treated by an Upper Sandusky physician and taken home.

OHIO'S LIQUOR TRADE CONTINUES TO GROW

Now 50 Million a Year Business for State

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 22—Ohio s $50 000 000 a year liquor business still is growing

A report on liquor department operations for the first six months of this year indicated today that 1940 liquor sales would approximate $56 000 000 compared to $51 686 071 in 1939

Sale for the first half of 1940 totaled $ 840 445 or 16 78 per cent more than the corresponding period last year Director Jacob B Taylor reported

The same time operating expenses declined $23 669 to a total of $1 694 036

Net profit and gallonage tax revenue for the first six months of this year amounted to $8 508 326 an increase of $1 302 432 over the identical period last year

On June 29 the department had a cash balance of $3 487 236 and liabilities of $ 839 410

Taylor attributed a 64 68 per cent increase in June sales over last year to heavy wholesale purchases prior to July 1 when new defense taxes became effective

High Temperatures Grip Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO July 22—No immediate relief was in prospect today from the midsummer heat wave which has engulfed most of the nation for the past three days

Only two sections of the country—northern New England and scattered points in the upper Great Lakes—escaped the oppressive heat which caused death to scores of persons by prostrations and drownings

More than three score persons were drowned as millions flocked to beaches and lakes seeking relief from the blistering heat wave Deaths caused from the heat claimed another score or more

Abnormally high temperatures prevailed yesterday in most of the middle west and portions of the middle Atlantic states while the weather bureau said readings were about normal throughout the southern states and the Ohio valley The top marks of the day—111—were recorded in Needles Calif and Yuma Ariz, while three other Arizona cities—Phoenix Kingman and Tucson—had readings of 110 108 and 105, respectively

Baltimore Md and Springfield O sweltered in 100 degree temperature Cincinnati had 9 Washington 96 Columbus and Detroit 94 Cleveland and Chicago 93 The north central states scorched as temperatures soared in the high nineties in most cities and touched 103 at Huron and 102 at Rapid City both in South Dakota

Today's temperatures the weather bureau forecast generally would equal or better yesterday's high marks The bureau's only prediction for relief was that there might be local thunder showers

Nazis Continue To Delay Crushing Blow at England

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

With the clocks of half the world standing still in the affairs of governments and men awaiting the outcome of the battle for survival between the German and British empires Herr Hitler has as yet given no indication of when or how he intends to strike the blow by which he hopes to annihilate England

Word from Berlin this morning was that the zero hour will come when it is clear the English people don't intend to disavow the leadership of Premier Winston Churchill and accept the Nazi chieftain's final offer of peace Then the blast will come

However while there is much talk of invasion of Britain actually the only thing we are sure of is that the war of the air is to continue undoubtedly with steadily increasing intensity The invasion may come—is almost sure I should say if it proves feasible—but it certainly must have as its forerunner a tremendous bombardment of the British isles from the air

Purpose of Attack

Meanwhile the Nazi strategy of air attacks such as are now proceeding is designed to bring victory irrespective of whether troops can be landed in England It is calculated to destroy sinews of war in Britain impose a starvation blockade on that country by destruction of shipping and smash the morale of the population

The present calibre of operations might continue for some time giving the Berlin Rome axis a chance to see if they can crack Britain's hold on the Mediterranean These two operations would complement each other and it is quite possible the axis may decide that there must be at least a partial solution of the Mediterranean problem as a preliminary to the all out assault on England proper

This might take the form of an attack on Gibraltar with the cooperation of Spain If this great fortress and naval base which controls the western entrance to the Mediterranean could be captured or rendered useless to the British it would ease the pressure on Italy greatly and create a dangerous diversion which would tend to weaken the British home defenses

Fight To Finish

The Britons are making preparations to defend their big rock to a finish This in itself is recognition of the danger in the threat but London thus far hasn't indicated any undue concern

As a matter of fact I suspect that England wouldn't be unhappy if Spain did make a gesture which would permit the British fleet to extend the blockade to that country Oil and other vital supplies are reported to be passing through Spain to Germany and Italy since the defeat of France allowed the Nazis to move over to the Spanish border

While a delay in the grand onslaught against England is possible on the other hand Hitler may give the signal at any moment for the massed air attack which England has been promised. There is no bluff in the constant threats from Berlin that the most terrible warfare the world has ever seen will be unleashed unless the British surrender

HALIFAX

day and 24 German planes were downed Saturday and Sunday

Proudest British announcement dealt with the the asserted rout of 80 German planes—40 bombers and 40 fighters—by six British Hurricane planes in an hour-and 15 minute battle over the English channel Sunday afternoon The British said one German plane was shot down and the others raced for home their attack on a merchant shipping convoy thwarted

Bombers Kill 15

German bombers killed at least 15 persons in widely scattered districts of Britain Sunday, however

The British acknowledged loss of 11 planes in raids Saturday night on the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and other objectives

The Germans admitted loss of five planes Saturday but said the British lost 22

Also on the debit side Britain reported the submarine Salmon was long overdue and given up for lost and that minesweeping trawler Crestflower was sunk by enemy aircraft

The Salmon has been 12 reported destruction of a German submarine damaging of the German cruisers Blucher and Leipzig and letting the German liner Bremen pass because she was too distant for adequate warning

This morning the admiralty reported the sinking with all but one of life of the 1 360 ton destroyer Brazen which was damaged in an air attack and sank while being towed to port

The German high command said a British cruiser and two destroyers were damaged in air raids Saturday and the important port of Newcastle and south-central English industrial centers were heavily bombed

With the west thus engaged the expansion of Soviet Russia's strategic position in the Baltic continued as Latvia Lithuania and Estonia independent republics since 1018 petitioned for union with Russia

Rumania Frightened Again

Rumania also was reported to have received a Russian suggestion that she form a popular front government—such as those established in the Baltic countries after the Red army moved in

Rumania's King Carol who already has yielded to Russia the great area of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina to avoid a fight was reported to have asked Germany and Italy desperately to advise him in this latest dilemma

Italy reported week-end air raids on Malta Kenya colony British Somaliland and the Anglo Egyptian Sudan

The Italian high command harking back once more to the Italian British naval battles in the Mediterranean July 8-13 insisted it now has positive information that three British warships—in addition to the 42 100 ton battle cruiser Hood and the aircraft carrier Ark Royal—were damaged severely and suffered heavy crew losses

The British admiralty has officially denied any such casualties either to ships or men

As a token of axis friendship Hitler presented Premier Mussolini an armored train to protect him from air attacks in his travels

The Pan American conference in Havana opened formally yesterday looked to Secretary of State Cordell Hull late today for a declaration of policy by the United States to show the way for concrete measures to bolster western hemisphere defense and economy against possible threats from Europe

GERMANS BLAME BRITISH ATTITUDE ON ROOSEVELT

Cites Promises of Help Against Nazi Machine

BERLIN JULY 22 — (AP by Radio)—President Roosevelt is described by the editor of the Frankfurter Zeitung as to a great extent responsible for the present adamant British attitude

The newspaper the radio reprint said today blames Roosevelt for the illusions still prevailing in England with regard to foreign reaction to the fuehrer's speech and said the world like apart from England understood correctly the reasons which induced the fuehrer to make this last stirring appeal • • •

If Churchill is the man who ought to hang his head if the appeal to reason is to end in the destruction of England

Now that he wants to be elected he openly admits that he systematically agitated for years against National Socialism • • • For seven years it (the United States government) has agitated • • • and nourished many illusions among those who believe in active help from America has been their strongest hope France until the day of her collapse in England still today

Douglas and Hanes Pledge Support to Republican.

By The Associated Press

COLORADO SPRINGS Colo, July 22 — John W Hanes and Lewis Douglas who have held office under the New Deal, offered today to work for the election of Wendell L Willkie.

In a telegram to the Republican nominee the two said they would seek 'to enlist in your behalf the support of Democrats who believe with you that loyalty to country takes precedence over loyalty to party

In a reply ing telegram, Willkie requested Douglas Hanes and others to commence in your own way the organization of Democrats and independents of like belief

Douglas once served as budget director under President Roosevelt

Willkie arranged to leave here today for the so called daddy of all rodeos' in Cheyenne, Wyo., tomorrow

Willkie spent yesterday quietly in his apartment at a resort hotel here He set a talk today with Rep Charles A. Halleck (R Ind) who is making arrangements for his acceptance talk at Elwood Ind about Aug 10

Willkie drove to a mountain lodge for dinner last night and returned to his hotel to see a preview of a motion picture The feature was preceded by a newsreel showing Willkie and Mrs. Willkie eating trout at a Colorado fish fry the candidate shaking hands with scores of Coloradoans and then speaking briefly from a rustic cottage

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 22—The market for domestic wools in Boston continued very quiet today. An occasional sale of country-packed three-eighths and quarter-blood bright fleece wools was reported at 37 to 38 cents, the grease, delivered east. Mills were showing very little interest in fine territory wools but odd lots of short to average French combing-length wools in original bags were moved at 75 to 78 cents, scoured basis.

MARKET STILL LAGS BEHIND

Guessing on Next War Move Tends To Obscure Business Developments.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 22—Inertia continued to grip the stock market today as guessing on the next European war move tended to obscure domestic business and political news.

Among resistant stocks were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Air Reduction, General Electric, Anaconda and Great Northern.

Bonds and commodities did little either way.

Opinions varied regarding home economic prospects. One commission house analyst had this to say:

"A fall in exports ordinarily is not an important factor in the business outlook of this country, but it is now because exports have been unusually high in recent months due to war orders and because the decline may be accompanied by large inventory liquidations."

Burglary Yields Can Containing $18 in Pennies

Approximately $18 in pennies were taken in a burglary at the James Uline residence at 466 Mary street Saturday night while members of the family were away from home, police reported.

Officers said entrance apparently was gained by climbing onto a back porch roof and entering through a bathroom window. The pennies were in a large can in an upstairs room.

The Square Deal garage at the rear of 147 North Main street was broken into last night but apparently nothing was taken. F. D. Kneisley, proprietor, reported. The burglary was discovered about 2 a. m. by Patrolman Cornely while he was patrolling his beat. Entrance apparently was gained by prying a door open.

Homer Davis of 607 Cherry street reported to police that someone entered a garage at his home Saturday night and stole a flashlight from his automobile. C. F. Stuckey, who lives nearby at 645 Cherry street, reported his garage was broken into about the same time and that a small axe and about three gallons of gasoline was taken from his car.

WHEAT PRICES SAG MORE THAN CENT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22 — Wheat prices sagged more than a cent a bushel today, July contracts falling to 71⅞, the lowest any wheat delivery here has been quoted since last Sept. 1.

Liquidation of July contracts, in which trading ceases after tomorrow, hedging sales against the new crop movement, and prospects of showers in the domestic and Canadian spring wheat belt caused the setback. This was in the face of a sharp advance of corn prices with December contracts, representing the new crop, up almost 2 cents at one stage due to the hot weather.

Wheat closed ½-1 cent lower than Saturday July 72⅞-¾, Sept 73⅜-½, Dec 74⅝-¾; corn ¾-⅞ higher, Sept. 60¾, Dec. 58⅝-¾; oats ½ off to ¼ up.

4 CALEDONIA RESIDENTS INJURED IN COLLISION

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, O., July 22—Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hipsher, Mrs. Flo Coen and Harold Brocklesby, all of Caledonia, were badly bruised in an automobile collision yesterday about 2:30 p. m. on Route 262 northeast of Sycamore.

Members of the group said Mr. Hipsher was driving east and at an intersection his car collided with a southbound car. Neighbors in the vicinity told Mr. Hipsher that a stop sign on the east-west road had been broken off since February. The four were brought to Caledonia by neighbors in the vicinity and later were taken to Marion City hospital for X-ray examination. The examinations showed that no bones were broken. Last night they were returned to their homes.

All four were bruised and Mrs. Hipsher suffered a severe bruise on one arm. Mrs. Coen was bruised about the chest and abdomen and Brocklesby, grandson of Mrs. Hipsher, was badly bruised over the right eye.

LEAVE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Albert Sons and daughter, Alberta, who were injured in an automobile accident a week ago, have been removed from the City hospital to their home at 18 Milburn avenue. Mrs. Sons is reported to be improving. Her daughter's condition is not so good, the family reports. No visitors are allowed.

MOTORIST HAS COSTLY WYANDOT COUNTY TRIP

Fined After Car Runs Wild Into Train.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 22—Trouble came in bunches for Frank Culotta, 33-year-old Chicagoan, while passing through Wyandot county Friday.

State highway patrolmen reported Culotta, traveling west on Route 30-N 10 miles west of here, was going too fast to stop safely when he saw a train approaching a New York Central crossing. The Culotta car skidded 239 feet, tore down 55 feet of guard rail, hit an end post, tipped 10 more feet of railing and then hit the side of the train. Culotta's father, Samuel, 63, was slightly injured.

Surveying the wreckage, Patrolman W. B. Lytle of Findlay arrested the son, who was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge by Justice of the Peace W. P. Rowland of Upper Sandusky.

Two other motorists, Harold W. Steigerwalt, 22, of McCutchenville, and Elmer J. Moner, 33, of Cleveland, whose autos collided near McCutchenville, Friday evening, were given fines before Justice Rowland Friday evening. Steigerwalt was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge and Moner was fined $5 and costs for not having his car under control at all times.

RETIREMENT NOT SO EASY

By United Press

STEVENS POINT, Wis.—Joseph G. Frank, 70, finds it hard to get used to "taking it easy." Until his recent retirement, he was employed 46 years without missing a single work day. Frank says he never has been ill and never has taken even a "teaspoonful" of medicine. In his 46 years' labor, Frank had only two employers, a tav
